Vicar's Letter Christmas 2018

Dear Friends,

Ding dong merrily on high... So begins the familiar Christmas Carol which many of us will be singing at some point over the festive season. The words speak about bells being rung out on earth and in heaven as the whole of creation throws a party to celebrate the birth of Jesus.

And, as I'm sure you will all know by now, that carol will have new significance for us this year as the newly restored church bells are rung out for the first Christmas time in living memory. So, as this is my first magazine letter since the five ancient restored bells and the brand new tenor bell were hoisted back into the tower at the end of October, I wanted to express my congratulations and say a huge "thank you" to everyone involved with the project. First, to the members of the Bells Restoration Committee for their hard work, dedication and faith in the vision, but also to the churchwardens, PCC and congregation; to the wider village community; and to all those, whatever their connection with All Saints, who have contributed so generously to the fundraising effort through gifts of time, talents and money. Thank you all.

Five out of those six bells were in desperate need of restoration. Those fine instruments, carefully crafted all those centuries ago to produce chimes of just the right note and tone, had fallen into various kinds of disrepair: cracked, chipped, distorted – no longer capable of sounding. Something drastic needed to be done about them if they were ever to fulfil their created purpose as instruments of praise and worship to God.

The carol Ding dong merrily on high is a joyful reminder that at Christmas we celebrate another great act of restoration - an event which changed the world for ever. It was the moment when, in a new-born baby called Jesus, the very essence of God appeared on earth as human flesh and blood. He did so in order that through the life, death and resurrection of that person Jesus, God could, in effect, offer himself in love to restore and renew his beautiful but broken world.

So when our newly restored bells ring out at Christmas this year and in the years to come, maybe they will act as a kind of reminder to us of God's own great restoration project – his renewal of the world and, if we ask him, his renewal of all of us.

Wishing you all a very happy and peaceful Christmas.

Steve.

Churchwarden's Corner

We were deeply saddened by the death of John Gridley, he and Morag had become a very special part of Little Cornard Church and his contribution and good humour will be greatly missed. Our love and prayers go out to Morag and their family.

Our congratulations to Scott and Shannon Attmere following their wedding at Little Cornard and we wish them many years of happiness together.

Our thanks go once more to everyone who helped with the Harvest Fair this year. Even though it clashed with several other events we still made over £1,000. A special mention must go to Susan Sils who managed to visit 23 local churches as part of the sponsored cycle ride.

The Thank You Service, the Songs Of Praise Service and the Harvest Supper were all well attended and the First Tuesday lunches are still popular – feel free to drop in for soup and a chat if you can. Our thanks go to Clare Lodge for representing Little Cornard at the 'Churches Together in Suffolk' prayer breakfast at All Saints in October. If anyone fancies a free breakfast and an interesting discussion do come to the next one. Rev Steve is still leading a short spoken service in the school room each Friday at 9 am to which anyone is welcome. It provides an opportunity for quiet discussion.

The Bell Restoration project has reached its climax with the rehangings of the five refurbished bells and the new sixth bell in time for the commemoration of the centenary of the Armistice. Thanks go to many people for their generous gifts of time and money. Bishop Martin came and blessed the bells on 30th of September before they were hung, and Bishop Michael will be coming to lead a service of dedication on 1st December to which everyone is welcome.

The candle lit carol service is on Sunday 23rd of December at 6:30 p.m. Do come and bring friends and family. Mulled wine and mince pies will be served afterwards. On Christmas Morning we will have our usual shortened Family Service at 10:30 a.m. followed by a spoken Communion for those who wish to stay.

With Best Wishes for Christmas and the New Year.

Brenda and Jeremy

Suffolk Historic Churches Trust Ride & Stride

Twenty riders visited All Saints this year, mostly from local villages. We had a shower in the morning but the rest of the day was fine and good for cycling. Dr Susan Sills visited twenty three churches which was a fantastic effort. She raised £250 in sponsorship, half of which will come to Little Cornard. Thank you to her from all of us.

Sue Macdiarmid

Bike Ride 2018

I always thought that East Anglia was pretty flat and easy cycling but this year I discovered this is not quite the case!

I headed North of the Parish and took in Hadleigh churches and some lovely others including Polstead, Stoke by Nayland, Kersey, Semer (a famous hill used by Olympic cyclists for training! I went down it rather than up!) Bildeston, Chelsworth, Milden (another hill but a lovely view!) and the Waldingfields.

The weather was kind with only a little drizzle and not too strong wind.

As always, generous refreshments meant I didn't need to take any with me and they were supplemented by lots of juicy brambles in the hedges to revive me as I trundled along.

Thank you, again, to all those who kindly sponsored me, and £250 went to the fund with half going to Little Cornard.

Christmas Decorating

The Church looked wonderful for Harvest: quite by accident the theme seemed to be sunflowers! Thank you to everyone who helped with the decorating. Marian and I will be in touch nearer the time for the Christmas decorating.

Church bells will still ring out

Planning policy is finally coming to the aid of church bells. No longer will people who move into areas with 'noisy' church bells be able to complain and have them shut down.

As the Secretary of State for Housing, Sajid Javid, recently said, 'Churches have been part of British life in towns and villages for centuries. Their bells should not be silenced by new housing going up, which is why planning policy will be strengthened to ensure it will be up to developers building new properties nearby to identify and tackle noise problems.'

And so it is that under the new guidance, it will be up to developers to soundproof the homes they build near churches with bells, music venues, and community and sports clubs.

The Church of England has welcomed the decision, pointing out that bell-ringing has been part of Christian worship for more than 1000 years.

Storehouse Foodbank

According to their website the kind folk who run the Storehouse Foodbank will be handing out hundreds of bags filled with hope in time for Christmas Day. The volunteers will be helping to take some of the worry and stress away from local families in crisis by filling bags with goodies such as Christmas cake, mince pies and yule logs along with chocolate and sweets. They will also include some Christmas decorations and table crackers.

The last date for Christmas food donations is Monday 10th December but if this deadline has passed you can still help by making a cash donation via their website. Go to www.stourvalleyvinyard.org/storehouse

Village Hall News

I was a bit optimistic with comments about sunshine for our August barbeque at Peter Schwind's. However, despite the slight dampness we had a really great afternoon with a delicious barbeque and lively music. It was very pleasing to see so many there. Our thanks to Peter, Clive and Anne Johnson, Patricia and Nigel Monk and Peter Cook's band, Elektra, for their kind donations which meant we raised £1,000.

This fundraising means that we have been able to carry out some essential maintenance. Our focus this year was on the roof and the kitchen/bathroom extension roof has been removed, insulated, beams checked and the tiles replaced (with some new). We have also been able to have the outside of the hall painted and it looks very smart. Unfortunately, it seems the barge boards/fascias need to be replaced, so we have squeezed that into our budget and I hope this will be done before too long.

Please do not forget Saturday 15th December when we will be reading 'The Chimes' at Little Cornard Church. See ad in this magazine.

As ever, thank you for the support given during the year.

Little Cornard Neighbourhood Plan

The Steering Group has been set up by the Parish Council. It has met twice and is developing an understanding of what information will be required to enable an informed debate to take place within the village.

A number of residents have accepted an invitation to join the Steering Group and their particular knowledge and expertise is already proving invaluable.

In the New Year there will be a residents' meeting to discuss our priorities for the future. It is important to understand residents' views on evolving opportunities for Little Cornard but also to consider any concerns that residents may have regarding any proposed changes.

A questionnaire will be distributed in the New Year to enable all residents to express their opinions on a range of relevant topics.

The Steering Group has been in contact with all parishes bordering Little Cornard to inform them of our intention to prepare a Neighbourhood Plan and to allow discussion on shared issues to take place.

A meeting is being organised with Babergh Council to provide the Steering Group with information on support and how our plan should be aligned with wider policies.

The Steering Group has also begun discussion with a number of local groups to identify their priorities for the future.

Thank you to several individuals who have already provided information and opinions.

Commemoration at Little Cornard War Graves

On Thursday 8th November the Royal British Legion, together with the headmaster and 25 students from Thomas Gainsborough School and representatives of All Saints Church, attended the church to lay poppies at the graves of those who died during or as a result of The Great War. The following introduction was read out by Mrs Rod Kilby:

"Welcome to Little Cornard Churchyard for this centenary commemoration of the First World War to remember the four men who gave their lives and lie here in this churchyard.

"The Great War or First World War lasted for four years from 1914 to 1918 and ended on the 11th November 1918. Today, although beyond our memory, we still pause to remember each year with two minutes silence at 11am on the 11th November and have Remembrance Day church services and parades on the nearest Sunday to that date. It was called the Great War because of the size of it, fought mainly in Europe and in the Middle East and millions of people across the world were affected. This was the first mechanised war where men on horseback were replaced by tanks and machine guns. As a consequence of this war some 800,000 British & Commonwealth soldiers died, that is approximately the population of Suffolk today. Millions more suffered the physical and mental effects of war, men were unable to work, women widowed and children lost their fathers.

"The First World War changed the social & political landscape of the country. Following the end of the war the Royal British Legion was formed in May 1921 to provide welfare support and assistance for those living with the consequences of war service. The Legion also took on the role of Custodians of Remembrance to ensure future generations remember the sacrifice of those who went before us and to learn lessons from mistakes of the past.

"Casualties from the First World War are usually marked by a Commonwealth War Graves Commission headstone. These headstones are usually made of Portland stone quarried in Dorset. Each headstone is the same shape and size regardless of rank, race or creed to show all are equal in death. The Commonwealth War Graves Commission was established in 1917 by Fabien Ware who undertook to create permanent memorials both for those who fell in battle overseas and for those who returned home wounded or ill and subsequently died at home. Continued overleaf

These men were given a military burial at home and are the men we are here to remember today."

At each grave, one of the students read out details of the person whose remains lie within the churchyard. The first is as follows: we will publish details of the three remaining graves in the next two issues of Little Cornard Magazine in this centenary year of the end of The Great War.

Driver Alfred Horrex

T41243057 Army Service Corps

Alfred was born in Cornard Parva - or Little Cornard as we know it - around 1888, one of seven surviving children of Charles Cornelius and Alice (nee Ball) Horrex. His father was a gamekeeper and the family lived at Sawyers Farm. In 1911 Alfred was employed as a horseman and he was still living at home with his parents, brothers Charles and William and sisters Amy and Emily. He later married Bessie and they lived in Upper Road, Little Cornard.

Alfred enlisted and served with the Army Service Corps (formerly No. 574). The troops of the Army Service Corps were the unsung heroes of the British Army in WW1. Soldiers can't fight without food, equipment and ammunition. The 'T' before Alfred's service number indicates that he was with a Horse Transport unit, the largest section of the Corps, and they transported supplies from the depots up to the frontline, often coming under fire from enemy heavy artillery. Alfred is recorded as having first served in a theatre of war on 7 October 1915 in the Balkans. It is not known if he was sent to Gallipoli or to Salonika with his unit or when or where he was injured.

Alfred died of wounds at the Military Hospital, Mill Road in Liverpool, aged 29 and lies buried here in Little Cornard Churchyard. He was awarded the 1914-15 Star, British War Medal and Victory Medal.

The bells awaiting the Bishop's blessing

The bells newly arrived at All Saints

The oldest bell which dates back to 1399

The bells are unloaded and ready to be taken into the Church

History Made

Today, the 11th November 2018, history was made at All Saints Church. At 11.30 the bells were rung for the first time for nearly 200 years.

Work finally started in September to install the new bell frame and the five restored bells, with the new one made to increase the ring to six.

On the 30th September Bishop Martin came and conducted a service which included the Blessing of the Bells and also the font in its new position. The blessing of the bells is an ancient service very much the same as a baptism. Each bell was blessed and marked with a cross in holy oil.

During October work continued with the bells coming back, with headstocks being fitted in the tower and all the necessary wheels, ropes and clappers. Holes were drilled in floors and ceilings to allow the ropes to hang ready for ringing.

Finally, on Tuesday 30th October, the bells were ready for a trial ring. All seemed to go well apart from a few technical problems to solve. The bell hanger worked tirelessly to get everything ready for the big day.

At 11.30 on 11th November a band of ringers from St Gregory's in Sudbury joined three ringers from All Saints to sound out the first notes from the bells. People who had attended the Service of Remembrance were joined by a considerable number of villagers to listen as the bells were heard loud and clear across the fields of Little Cornard.

When we held the service of Reconciliation and Remembrance on 3rd August 2014 to mark the 100th Anniversary of the beginning of the First World War we made a pledge to have the bells ringing for Armistice Day 2018, the centenary of the end of the First World War. History was made today.

Thank you to the many people, too many to name individually, who helped to make this happen.

We now look forward to Bishop Mike taking the dedication service on 1st December at 3 p.m. to which all are welcome.

It Couldn't Be Done

BY EDGAR ALBERT GUEST 1881 -1959

Somebody said that it couldn't be done
But he with a chuckle replied
That "maybe it couldn't," but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried.
So he buckled right in with the trace of a grin
On his face. If he worried he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it!

Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that;
At least no one ever has done it;"
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat
And the first thing we knew he'd begun it.
With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin,
Without any doubting or quiddit,
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it.

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
There are thousands to prophesy failure,
There are thousands to point out to you one by one,
The dangers that wait to assail you.
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Just take off your coat and go to it;
Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That "cannot be done," and you'll do it.

Wise Words

Let your words be the genuine picture of your heart.

We should be rigorous in judging ourselves and gracious in judging others.

Passion and prejudice govern the world; only under the name of reason. It is our part, by religion and reason joined, to counteract them all we can.

John Wesley 1703 -1791

Two Hundred Years Ago...

George Duffield, born two hundred years ago in 1818, was a Presbyterian minister from Philadelphia. He and his friend Rev Dudley Tyng were both strongly evangelist.

Both men had spoken out against slavery, indeed Tyng had been forced out from his Episcopalian position because of his abolitionist stance. Together they preached the evangelical message all over Philadelphia.

Tyng was a most compelling speaker and at one meeting in March 1858 managed to convert 1,000 men from a crowd of 5,000 who had come to hear him preach.

At the end of that particular event he said "I would rather that this right arm were amputated at the trunk than that I should come short of my duty to you in delivering God's message". Weeks later Tyng was standing by a corn threshing machine when the loose sleeve of his garment became caught, dragging his right arm into the machinery.

Four days later he died from blood loss and infection. Duffield, inspired by his friend's last words "Tell them to stand up for Jesus", wrote the hymn Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus. George James Webb's tune The Morning Light is Breaking was published in 1868 for Duffield's hymn.

SMILE LINES: Hearing

A man went into a church and asked the minister to pray for his hearing. 'Ah, certainly,' said the minister, somewhat taken aback.

The man knelt, and the minister placed a hand carefully on each ear. In a loud voice he asked God to help the man with his hearing. 'I hope that will help,' he shouted to the man.

'Well, we won't know for a while,' the man replied softly, 'The hearing is not until next month.'

Stretch Your Vocal Chords and Help Raise Funds for Local Hospice

A local charity is on the hunt for fundraisers willing to stretch their vocal chords and help raise vital funds while having some tuneful fun in the lead up to Christmas.

In a bid to make sure festive spirit is spread far and wide this year, St Nicholas Hospice Care is hoping as many people as possible will lend their voices to its new fundraiser 'Carolling All the Way'.

To help make the occasion a success the Hospice needs people who love a sing-song to come together and sing their way around their communities over the weekend of 14 to 16 December.

Alison Bacon-Snow, the Hospice's lottery manager and event organiser, said: "I want this to be a really fun fundraiser that everyone feels they can be part of.

"It doesn't matter if you're already part of a choir or just someone looking to have some fun fundraising at Christmas, this will be a friendly occasion packed with community."

No audition is necessary and people can sign up as groups (of any size) as well as individuals.

By taking part, fundraisers will be helping to make a huge difference to the lives of local people, as all funds raised will help support the hospice's services across West Suffolk and Thetford.

It costs £5 per person to take part and fancy dress (Christmas jumpers, steampunk or period costume) is optional.

For more information visit <https://stnicholashospice.org.uk/news-community/events-listing/carolling-all-the-way/>

SMILE LINES: Be with you

The vicar at a local church experienced some technical problems with the sound system one Sunday. Instead of starting the service as usual with 'The Lord be with you', he said: 'There's something wrong with this microphone.'

Not hearing this, the congregation responded: 'And also with you.'

How Father Christmas got where he is today

One person you are bound to run into this Christmas season is Father Christmas. These days he seems to frequent shopping malls and garden centres. If he looks tired, just remember that he has been around a long time and gone through a lot of transformations.

Father Christmas wasn't always the red-suited, white-bearded star of the retail trade that he is today. He began life as Nicholas, born way back about AD260 in Patara, an important port on the southern coast of what is now Turkey. When his parents died and left him a fortune, Nicholas gave it away to the poor. He became a bishop of the nearby city of Myra, where he almost certainly suffered persecution and imprisonment at the hand of the Roman Emperor Diocletian.

Nicholas was a serious theologian: he was a participant at the First Council of Nicaea, which formulated the Creed which we still say today. He even, reportedly, slapped another bishop in a squabble over the exact nature of the Trinity.

Nicholas died in Myra about AD343, but the stories of his generosity and kindness were just beginning. One enduring tale tells of the three girls whom he rescued from certain prostitution by giving them gold for their dowries. When the father confronted him to thank him, Nicholas said he should thank God alone.

In the UK, Nicholas became the basis for Father Christmas, who emerged in Victorian times as a jolly-faced bearded character. Meanwhile, Dutch and German settlers had taken him to America with them as Sinter Klaas and Sankt Nicklas.

It was in America that Nicholas received his final two great breaks into real stardom. The first was when the Rev Clement C Moore, a New York Episcopal minister, turned from his life-work of writing a Hebrew/English lexicon, to write a fun poem for his children one Christmas. His 'The Visit of St Nicholas' is now universally known by its first line: 'T'was the Night Before Christmas'.

From Clement Moore we discovered that St Nicholas is round and pink-cheeked and white-bearded, and that he travels at night with sleigh, reindeer and a sack of toys on his back. It was Clement Moore who also revealed that St Nicholas enters houses down chimneys and fills children's stockings with toys and sweets. Continued overleaf

So how did we find out that Father Christmas wears red? That was the US Coca-Cola advertising campaign of 1931, who finally released the latest, up-to-date pictures of Father Christmas: wearing a bright red, fur-trimmed coat and a large belt.

These days, it is good that Father Christmas uses reindeer and doesn't have to pay for petrol. In order to get round all the children in the world on Christmas Eve, he will have to travel 221 million miles at an average speed of 1279 miles a second, 6,395 times the speed of sound. For all those of us who are already exhausted just rushing around getting ready for Christmas that is a sobering thought.

AUTUMN 2018

CORNARD MERE -

By Robin Ford - Voluntary warden, Cornard Mere

The long hot summer of 2018 reduced water levels on the reserve to their lowest for five years. Hidden from the road by the screen of willows the vegetation that appeared on this area of exposed peat consisted of an array of pioneering wetland species that included Amphibious Bistort (see photo), Blue Water Speedwell, Trifid Burr Marigold, Gipsywort and Golden Dock. As I write Water Chickweed is still in flower. Volunteers, from the Dedham Vale/Stour Valley Project, were able to coppice further willow growth and I am hoping that Will Cranstoun, the south-west reserves manager for the Suffolk Wildlife Trust, will be able to dig out the cross ditch which has infilled with silt.

Surprisingly, the main pond has not completely dried out. Teal are now patrolling the shallows while Herons and Cormorants are reducing the size of the fish population. Snipe can be seen sheltering beside the scrape that lies parallel with the public footpath.

On a sadder note I added yet another species to the long list of traffic victims found close to the gates of the pumping station: a juvenile Nightingale attempting its first migration.

Recipe - Shortbread

Shortbread is a traditional treat at this time of year and homemade shortbread is even nicer. It is really easy to make and if you have children or grandchildren who are keen to help in the kitchen it can be an ideal introduction to home baking.

Some pieces of shortbread in a cellophane bag tied with a tartan ribbon make a welcome small gift.

Ingredients

6 oz (170 g) plain flour
pinch of salt
2 oz (55 g) caster sugar
4 oz (115 g) butter

Method

Mix the flour, salt and sugar. Rub in the butter then work the mixture into a smooth pliable dough.

Divide into two and roll each piece into a 6 inch (15 cm) round. Place on a baking tray and flute the edges. Prick all over with a fork.

Bake for about 45 minutes at Gas 3, 325F, 160C, Fan 140C
Sprinkle with extra caster sugar and cut into pieces while still warm.
